Mr. Weightman was a prominent young man of Shinnston having resided here for the last five years. For the last year he was employed by the Ferguson Contracting Company and at the time of his death was in charge of some railroad construction work near Pittsburgh. SYLLABUSES

Of Some Appeal Cases Recently Decided by the State Supreme Court.

Following are the syllabuses of cases decided recently by the state supreme court.

Good vs. Walker.
1. An acknowledgment headed, Braxton County Court Clerk's Office, December 4, 1848, and signed "John P. Byrne, C. R. C." sufficiently designates the official character of the office certifying it.

2. A paper, purporting to convey land by proper description, though void as a conveyance for want of authority in the grantor, is admissible as evidence of color of title.

3. An acknowledgment, certified in 1855, as well as at the present time, should in some manner identify the person acknowledging as the person who signed the writing.

4. An acknowledgment certified by a justice of the peace in 1855, which omits the words, "whose name is signed to the writing above," or words of similar import, is fatally defective and does not authorize recordation.

5. An attested copy of a deed not properly acknowledged, and therefore not recordable, is not evidence in lieu of the original.

6. The principal purpose of color of title is to define boundaries, and if it fails to do so with reasonable certainty it is not admissible evidence.

7. But it is not indispensable that the colorable deed should, in terms, contain a complete description of boundaries; it may expressly refer to and adopt some other existing paper containing them, and a paper thus referred to becomes a part of such colorable deed.

8. A paper referred to and described as recorded in the clerk's office, Braxton county, "becomes a part of the paper referring to it, and if identified may be read as evidence in connection therewith, even though the writing was improperly spread on the record. The evidence is to the writing of record, and not to the original paper of which the record is a copy.

9. A deputy clerk, being empowered by a statute of Virginia to "discharge any of the duties of the clerk," could, in his own name as such deputy, certify acknowledgments to writings, whether intended for recordation in the office of his principal, or in any other county clerk's office in Virginia.

10. The following certificate is held to the good in law and to warrant recordation in any county clerk's office in Virginia:

"Braxton County Court Clerk's Office, November 1, 1850. This deed from Benjamin Butler to Jeremiah Butler was this day presented to said office, acknowledged by said Benjamin Butler to be his act and deed. Teste, W. H. Byrne, Deputy Clerk."

The words, "acknowledged by the said Benjamin Butler," read in connection with the description of the deed, identified the acknowledger as the grantor.

11. If a person obtains general permission of another to occupy his land, and thereafter, and before going into possession, procures a written lease from an adverse claimant of a part of the land and ostensibly takes possession thereunder without knowledge of the former, it is for the jury to say under which claimant he holds, the question depending principally upon the bona

Woman's Beauty No Secret

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread tils peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic step and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the tell tale symptoms. Women so troubled should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs and restore their health to a normal condition.—Advertisement.
